Spring Dog Festival Seeks Volunteers

Help C-DOG help dogs

If you want to serve your community and help dogs in need at the same time, drop everything and go to coastaldogs.com to sign up. The Coastal Dog Owners' Group is seeking volunteers to help with their community benefit event, Woofstock West @ The Spring Dog Festival. Volunteers must be 18 years or older.

Woofstock West @ The Spring Dog Festival is a fun day for people and their furry friends. The festival features interactive games, contests, exhibits and sports, prizes, food, music, vendors, adoptable dogs and four rings of activities all day. The first 500 dogs to register receive a gift bag.

What: Woofstock West @ The Spring Dog Festival
When: Sunday, May 16, 10AM to 3PM
Where: Soquel High School, 401 Old San Jose Rd, Soquel, CA
Who: Sponsored by Santa Cruz Veterinary Clinic
Cost: $10 per dog and $2 per person
For more information: www.coastaldogs.com

Why this event is important now.

Help C-DOG raise much needed funds for dogs in need. Funds go to shelter animals, low cost spay and neuter, textbooks for animal science classes and the C-DOG scholarship fund.

Coastal Dog Owners Group Background

Coastal Dog Owners group has supported responsible dog ownership and a stronger human/canine bond through their training events, workshops, community clean up days and annual spring parade since 1999. C-DOG is a 501c3 non-profit organization run by all volunteers who seek to improve lives for pet dogs and adoptable dogs. The Spring Dog Festival is a benefit that has raised thousands of dollars for dogs in need and for educating kids about animals.
